Mary Had A Little Cold

Mary had a little cold, but wouldn't stay at home; And everywhere that Mary went, the cold was sure to roam; It wandered into Molly's eyes and filled them full of tears— It jumped from there to Bobby's nose, and thence to Jimmie's ears. It painted Anna's throat bright red, and swelled poor Jennie's head; Dora had a fever, and a cough put Jack to bed. The moral of this little tale is very quickly said— She could have saved a lot of pain with just one day in bed! —Lucy Tibbault, in Health Magazine.

Who Knows?

Where the the Minute Books and records of the old Mechanic's Institute and the old Public Library? Naturally, at the first board meeting held at the new library on Depot street a new Minute Book was opened, and the old books were carefully packed up and put in a safe place. They have been there ever since. Now these old records are being sought. Will anyone who knows their whereabouts, be good enough to call The Independent.

George Washington (1732-1799)

He stands the noblest leader who ever was entrusted with his country's life. His patience under provocation, his calmness in danger, and lofty courage when all others despaired, his prudent delays when delay was best, and his quick and resolute blows when action was possible, his magnanimity to defamers and generosity to his foes, his ambition for his country and unselfishness for himself, his sole desire of freedom and independence for America, and his only wish to return after victory to private life, have all combined to make him, by the unanimous judgment of the world, the foremost figure of history. —Chauncy M. Depew.

Oatmeal Steps Up

On any of those meatless, sugarless, butterless days when you are at a loss what to serve for dessert, try Oatmeal Pudding. It is delicious, nourishing and has good "staying" qualities. It's easy to make, too.

One cup quick cooking oats, 1 cup raisins, or currants 2 tbs. brown sugar or honey, 1 cup buttermilk or thick milk, 1 tsp. baking soda, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1/4 tsp. nutmeg, cloves and pastry spice, 1/2 tsp. vanilla.

To make thick milk—if you can't get buttermilk, put 1 teaspoonful of vinegar in a cup of whole milk and let sit in a warm place until it sours and thickens.

Dissolve the soda in the sour milk; mix all the other ingredients together in the top of a double boiler. If you can't get raisins or currants use peel. Add the milk to the mixture and stir until smooth. Cook over boiling water for one hour. Serve with cream or sauce. This will serve four to six people.

Newspaper Talk

It was a native son of Germany, Johann Gutenberg, born in Mainz in 1397, who is generally conceded to have invented the art of employing movable types in printing, probably about 1450. The first newspaper was published in Germany about the year 1612. Those were Germany's brightest and best days, when the arts and crafts had reached their greatest heights.

When James I was king the first weekly newspaper appeared in England. That was in 1622—uneasy times, for James didn't get on any too well with his Parliament, and on the idea of the "divine right" of kings as he was.

It was not until 1731 that France established a newspaper, in the reign of Louis XV. These were mad, bad times in France, too, with

Power Saving Pointer

Individual savings of electric power may seem small, but collectively they make a great addition to the power available to war industries. Scattered through Ontario and Quebec are hundreds of industrial plants which urgently need this power. Housewives can carry on their own personal power conservation drives by making certain that lamp shades and electric light bulbs are kept clean and free from dust, as does the young housewife in the picture above. Even a small film of dust on the shades or bulbs reduces light efficiency.

the country under the direction of the King's former tutor, Cardinal Fleury.

America's first newspaper came off the press in 1689, at Boston, but not having the proper license it was suppressed by the British Colonial Government. The Boston News Letter began publication as a weekly in 1704, and in 1775 Benjamin Towne converted his Philadelphia Evening Post and Daily Advertiser into America's first daily newspaper.

In the spring of 1776 Benjamin Franklin and two other commissioners were sent by Congress to Montreal to instruct the Canadians in the true principles of the patriot cause. Montreal was then in the hands of the Americans under General Richard Montgomery, who afterwards lost his life in an attempt to take Quebec. Benjamin, one of the most astute men of his time, set up a small printing press as an aid to instilling the ideas of the enlightened Americans into the minds of the trappers and traders of Canada. The results were so negligible that he left Canada and departed whence he came, in company, doubtless with his fellow commissioners.

Canada had no newspaper during the whole of the French rule. In 1784 the Quebec Gazette, now The Chronicle, came into being. It pledged itself to support Liberty, Virtue and Morality, and to avoid Party Prejudice and Private Scandal. Forty years later (1824) Le Canadien, the first newspaper for the French Canadians in their own language appeared.

In 1853, one hundred and twenty-one years after the Quebec Gazette came on the scene, The Grimsby Independent, that bright particular star, appeared on the journalistic horizon.

What! No Butter?

On our way to business this morning we met Miss Mallow from next door coming home with her groceries. Miss Mallow has the commendable habit of doing her shopping early in the morning, usually walking down town as far as the corner with the children going to school.

We could see she had something on her mind, so, after passing the preliminary time of day, didn't she come out with the same poser that had been exercising us: "Do you think we should have to pass out coupons for that ersatz butter all the stores are loaded to the gunwales with?" (Miss Mallow comes of a seafaring family; she pronounced it "gunnels").

It appears that some of the stores in town have been able to obtain a considerable stock of what, in the Old War, we used to call margarine—and a very good substitute it is too, when real butter is scarce. Of course, the grocers can't sell much of it because everybody's on their next to last butter coupon. Butter, butter, everywhere, and not a coupon left. Why shouldn't we be allowed to buy this ersatz butter without benefit of coupons? The more of this butter we use, the more good butter there will be to make up our overseas quota.

Simon-Pure

"Simon-pure" means real, genuine, true, sincere, not affected. "He is the simon-pure, blown-in-the-glass, dyed-in-the-wool friend of the public; none other is genuine," writes a newspaper ironically of a politician to whom it is bitterly opposed.

The term "simon-pure" comes from an old play, "A Bold Stroke for a Wife," by Mrs. Susannah Centlivre, an Englishwoman who was born in 1667 and died in 1723. In it a Colonel Feignwell passes himself off for Simon Pure, and wins the heart of Miss Lovely. No sooner does he get the assent of her guardian than the veritable Quaker shows himself and proves, beyond a doubt, that he is the real Simon Pure. Before he can do so, however, he is treated as an impostor and is put to no end of trouble to prove his identity.

—Everyday Sayings.

Make It Last

Treat your kitchen ware kindly, especially metal utensils, for it may be a long time before any new ones are made.

Iron pots should be washed in hot sudsy water, or hot soda and water, and must be dried thoroughly. If rust appears, remove it with steel wool. For long slow cooking an iron pot is a "must."

Earthenware and pottery should not be soaked. Wash with rich suds and a brush or fine abrasives to remove grease.

More and more attractive glassware is coming into use. This is usually easy to clean with soap and water. Before using new glassware or pottery, put it on the stove in a kettle of cold water and bring to the boil. This process toughens it. Be sure and do this, too, if you get a fine china cup and saucer for Christmas, or table glassware.

Tin and aluminium ware need delicate handling, so avoid harsh abrasives or scrubbing.

Cheese Digestible If Cooked Properly

The use of cheese as a substitute for meat is recommended by Nutrition Services. One pound of cheese contains approximately as much protein as two pounds of round steak, and is an exceptionally rich source of calcium.

Even young children digest cheese well, especially if it is combined with other foods which dilute it somewhat, as cereals, or vegetables. Always remember that too long cooking or too high a temperature toughens cheese and makes it less digestible.

It is not always realized that cheese can be substituted for part of the daily milk ration. A piece of firm cheese like Canadian Cheddar, one inch square and one inch thick is equal in food value to a half-pint of milk. Cottage cheese contains more moisture, and being less concentrated, takes one and a half cups to equal the food value of half a pint of milk.

Dead Head

A "dead head" is one who gets a pass, or free admission to a theatrical performance, a ball game, etc., for which admission is charged. The term is very old, and most authorities cast no light on its origin. According to some however, it arose from an old-time custom of marking passes with the sign of the skull and cross-bones, or "dead head."

In ancient Greece the theatres were opened at sunrise or even as soon as daybreak, and the spectators assembled very early, in order to get good seats. As the theatres were built at the public expense, at first seats were free. But this caused so great a commotion and contest for seats, that a law was passed at Athens under which a fee for admission was required. This was fixed, for a time at least, at two obols. But under the influence of Pericles, another law was enacted requiring the proper magistrate to furnish from the public treasury the amount of this fee to everyone who applied for it. —Everyday Sayings.

Homemakers of Tomorrow

Classroom teaching of the principles of nutrition is increasing as the importance of this subject in relation to general health is receiving wider recognition through the Canadian National Nutrition Program. In many schools girls are given opportunities to put sound nutritional principles into actual practice in cooking classes. These first-year high school students take seriously their future responsibilities as homemakers as they concentrate on the task in hand—the preparation of a cream soup.

Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 21st

Jesus The Good Shepherd

St. John, Chapter 10:1-30.

GOLDEN TEXT

I am the good shepherd, the good Shepherd giveth his life for his sheep.—John 10:11.

An Introduction to the Lesson

The discourse on the Good Shepherd followed close after the healing of the blind man in our last Sunday's lesson. It was spoken by Jesus to an assemblage consisting of His immediate disciples and the group of Pharisees who had complained because of His work of mercy on the Sabbath day. The Lord Jesus is presented as the Shepherd in three different ways. As the good shepherd, He gave His life for the sheep. As the great shepherd, He came forth in triumph from the tomb and now watches over His flock, guiding them through this world of sin and danger. As the chief shepherd, He is Lord of all the under shepherds who will render their accounts to Him and receive their rewards from Him.

The Heart of The Lesson

The Shepherd of Our Lord tells us of His deep love for His ransomed flock. "He loved the Church and gave Himself for it." Although the revelation of the mystery of the Church was not given until later, we have the same precious truth set forth in this tenth chapter of John's gospel under a different figure. It is one flock rather than one body, but it embraces the same redeemed company, gathered under the protecting care of the One Shepherd.

Application

If a sheep of Christ were ever lost, it would be plucked from the Shepherd's hand, and that is an impossibility. Do we realize and rejoice in our security?

A photo-refractometer, devised to maintain a constant "brightness" for brown sugar, will measure the exact amount of color in cloth, paper, paint, or any other opaque substance, according to its inventors.

MARTIN—WHITESIDE

Rev. David Paxon officiated in Chalmers United Church, Quelp, on Saturday evening, February 6, when Dorothy Eleanor Whiteside, College Grounds, and Leonard Blake Martin, Peterboro, took their marriage vows. The bride is the daughter of A. E. Whiteside and the late Mrs. Whiteside and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Martin.

Ferns and spring flowers formed the church decorations. Mr. John Hockin was at the organ. The bride, in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of blue satin with full-flowing skirt. Her only ornament was a crystal necklace that had belonged to her mother. A long veil of net just caught to her hair fell in folds beyond the short train and she carried a cascade of orchids and white roses. The attendants were Miss Helen Buchanan as maid of honor and Miss Joan Whiteside, niece of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They were groomed alike in floor-length dresses of heavy blue crepe, circular style, with matching Queen Anne headpieces and nosegay of violets.

Leading Airframesman Jack Ferguson, No. 4 Wireless school, was best man, and the ushers were Herbert Ransom, O.A.C.; James Cassner, O.A.C.; Gordon Whiteside, Ottawa; and Harold Whiteside, Quelp.

At the home of the bride's father, Mrs. Harold Whiteside received in an orchid sheer dinner dress with neadresses of purple violets and corsage of coral roses. The mother of the groom, assisting, chose an aquamarine dinner dress with matching turban and yellow nosegay. After a short wedding trip the newly-weds will reside in Peterboro. For going away the bride changed to a sunniblu-wool jersey dress with gros grain ribbon hat and corsage of orchids.

The bride is a sister to Harold Whiteside of the Graham-Whiteside Nurseries, Grimsby.

Grimsby attendants at the wedding were Mrs. Eva Graham, Master Graham Whiteside, and Miss Helen Cloughley.

Grimsby Public Library

Grimsby district people last year read 25,295 books from the Library. And this was not all, they also took home 2,425 magazines to read. Of the books 2,531 were non-fiction, which goes to show that a goodly section of the reading public likes to get its literary teeth into something it can chew.

The quantity of literature the children absorbed in the past year is amazing: no less than 10,000 books were carried home by the younger generation, ranging from first graders to High School students.

In all there were 1,500 more books and magazines read in 1942 than in the previous year—a most gratifying showing.

At the Annual Meeting of the Library Board last Thursday evening, Harold B. Matchett was re-elected chairman of the board for a second term. The standing committees remain as they were the previous year:

Property — F. E. Tregunno, Mayor E. S. Johnson.

Finance — F. V. Smith, W. H. Parsons.

Book—Miss C. Freshwater, Harold Johnson.

Some 805 new books were added during 1942; of these 100 were non-fiction and 230 juvenile. The cost was $516.00. Twenty-five periodicals and three newspapers are to be found on the reading tables. The sum of $86.00 was spent on bookbinding. Fines for overdue books increased the revenue of the library to the extent of $141.00.

Light Session Of Township Council

North Grimsby council will prepay its county rate this week. Money for same being arranged for through the Canadian Bank of Commerce. About $100 in interest charges will be saved.

George Fair and Charles J. DeLaplanche appeared before council on behalf of the Cottagers' Association asking for assistance in the disposal of garbage and refuse in the Beach.

Vital statistics for 1942 were: births, 12; deaths, 20; marriages, 12.

Government rationing of Newsprint due to labor, power and transportation, has been announced and is in effect.

Sending papers past expiry date when renewal is not received is causing a cash loss to us, and wastes newsprint. This, in the case of those who accept extra copies and do not renew.

Thus, we are forced to put all our subscribers on a time basis by advising that we must have payment before or on date your subscription expires. If not renewed by February 27, 1943, we will have to cancel the paper, owing to war regulations. Each subscription must be paid up to date.

We thank you for this co-operation in time of emergency, which will insure you receiving your Independent without interruption in service.

Classroom Nutrition

The important subject of Nutrition has a place in the school curriculum in Canada today. These teen-age girls are studying Canada's Official Food Rules and learning how to apply them to everyday meals. Posters and essays by High School students on nutritional themes are frequently used in connection with community nutrition programs.

Peach Fits Panicky, Primary Period Produces Paroxysm
Puck Parade — They Came, They Saw, but, Did Not

Friday night at the local ice arena, the Dumasville Lions came with a determined intention of taking the rimsey Peach Pits into camp with a score that would eliminate any possibility of progressing further in the Juvenile O.H.A. playoffs. In the first period it looked as if they were going to carry out their resolution without much — or any — opposition for the Peach Pits were either suffering from a swelling in the region north of the shoulders or else had decided that it was more blessed to receive than to give. The result of this policy was three rapid goals scored against them before they had a single shot on their opponent's goal. However, Blanchard and Lynburner were not thoroughly in agreement with this idea and managed to register two goals before the period drew to a close. On the play in this first period the Dumasville team should have had at least a five or six goal lead, but, due to poor shooting when in close had to be content with three markers. The end of the period found Squire Lushion very, very quiet — it's a fact.

Green were outstanding, although D. Green paid a little too much attention to the man and not to the puck with the result that he spent too much time in the bastle. For Grimaby, Boyd, Clancy, Lymburner and Blanchard were outstanding. Duffield also rates a start for his marksmanship and close checking. Ferris, as mentioned above turned in his best game of the season and if he continues to use his body will prove that the road in the Grimaby nets is in reality the rocky road to Dublin. Yes! The Squire recovered from his mental laryngitis by the end of the second period and towards the end of the game was broadcasting as well as ever.

Smithville, 5; Grimsby, 4.

In a game that was marked by close checking on the part of the winners, Smithville, for the first time this season, took the measure of the local talent by the score of six to four on Monday night in the local ice palace. For Smithville, Pennell, Comfort and Tylose were outstanding and by nice combination registered all six of their goals. Tylose and Boyd were a constant worry to the Grimsby team as their backchecking was the means of breaking up repeated scoring threats by the Grimsby lads. Duffield, Blanchard and Halinsky were easily the best for Howard Duffield, John Clancy, Father E. A. O'Donnell (coach).

Grimsby Peach Pits flashed a brand of Hockey at the Arena on Friday night that would do justice to a Junior O. H. A. team. They trimmed the Dunnville Juvenile Lions team by 12-4 and carry an eight goal lead into Mudestville to night for the return game. Not many more than 100 people witnessed the affray and this is not right. The kids are playing a swell brand of hockey and deserve a good strong following of fans. Hockey teams and Arenas cannot be operated on w'sed and snow balls, so it is up to the hockey bugs of this district to turn out in large numbers for the next game, or else the team cannot go on. The kids are deserving of strong support, particularly in view of the fact that they are in the play downs and stand an excellent chance of copping the Juvenile O.H.A. championship.

SPORTSMEN: Old Ed Fry, in his Dunnville Chronicle in describing the reunion of the Soo Greyhounds in Toronto called them "McNamara's Band". The Peach Kings broke up the band when they kicked the heads in of the big bass drum. Stuttering Bill Phillips, who played the bass drum, still says that Pud Reid never knew how to play hockey. Well that was one night that Pud knew how to hamper a bass drummer . . . Here's another thought. There has never been a Soo Greyhounds team since the night of the 3rd of March, 1925. That team never played together again and there never was another team organized to take their place . . . George McNamara, now a Toronto contractor, coached the Greyhounds. In the 1925 playoffs they entered the deciding game of a tough series with Hamilton two goals down. George was asked by a reporter for some message to send from Toronto to theault fans. His eyes twinkling, George quoted: "There is no other course open to us but to fight it out. Every position must be held to the last man; there must be no retirement. With our backs to the wall and believing in the justice of our cause, each one of us must fight on to the end." It was Hal's famous message to the British troops after the German break-through in March, 1918. And Grey-night or sunset. I was scored on six times but if the defence had been on the job this number would have been reduced considerably.

 Repeatedly the Grimsby defence allowed the opposing forward to come right in and plant themselves on the edge of the crease before firing. It is becoming more and more apparent, from watching the local entry, that wng man out of position, despite the advice of their coach and manager never plays dividend. In the shape of goals — save goals that are counted against them. We know from watching all their games that their manager and coach have both drilled them on this important phase of hockey, and, unless two or three of the players speedily change their style it does not augur well for their progress along the path to a Juvenile Championship.

After the games on Monday night, the Executive held a brief meeting and arranged for the playoffs to commence on Friday night next. The draw was:
 1st game — Wingham vs. Smithville.
 2nd game — Grimsby vs. Beams-ville.
 Both games to be played to a finish.
 The winners of the above, will play a sudden death game to decide the championship on Monday February 29th.

Maintaining a constant and sufficient water supply is one of the problems that have been met by the fire fighting organizations of the British railways. The Southern Railway has installed no less than 1,500,000 gallons of static water in 149 specially erected dams throughout the system. These dams supply 131 trailer pumps. Water is also taken from the sea, lakes and wells at 21 other places.

RUSSIAN RELIEF

great dimension from day to day, from night to night, without the slightest breathing-spell without a lull on a scale unprecedented in the history of wars. There are thousands upon thousands of wounded soldiers lying upon their beds of agony. This is the picture of the Soviet Union to-day.

Taking all these factors into consideration it is not hard to imagine the crying need for medicines, surgical instruments, bandages and warm clothing.

Those heroic people of the Soviet Union in their hour of agony and struggle are crying to us people of Canada, who are sensitive to human suffering, for the warm clothing to alleviate their intolerable suffering from severe cold winter days.

In the name of humanity you Grimsby citizens are kindly asked by the Women's Volunteer Committee to share your warmth with our homeless destitute allies in the war against Fascism. You workers of mercy and contributors can be sure in advance of the response which will be evoked by your humanitarian work and gift in the hearts of those to whom it will bring relief.

ISSUE ULTIMATUM

Alan Nicholson, regional timber controller at that time, and he declared that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board would not permit an increase in price, but would probably grant a subsidy to the manufacturers.

On the basis of this assurance, factories continued to do some manufacturing until Jan. 28, when representatives of the basket companies in Ontario and Quebec met with representatives of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. They told the board that on the definite promise of help they had continued manufacturing, but they declared that they would go no further because it cost them more to make baskets than they were permitted to sell them for. The board told them they would be given help within two or three days. Manufacturers said that this help has not been received.

C. A. Farrell, Grimsby, general manager of the Canada Package Sales, Ltd., which is the selling organization for Ontario basket companies, stated that even if basket factories were to start full operations immediately, he doubted if they could meet the demand for baskets this year.

The size of the basket business is seen by his report that last year, 18,000,000 six and 11-quart baskets were manufactured in Ontario. Of these, 11,000,000 were used by the Niagara Peninsula from Burlington to the Niagara river.

He said that basket manufacturers usually have contracted for their year's supply of timber by this time of the year. But no contracts have been signed so far this year because the manufacturer is uncertain about the price he can charge for his product. They expect difficulty in securing their wood, since the government is expropriating their best wood for airplanes. Further difficulty will be experienced in getting their logs out of the forests and to factories, he said.

Supporting the action of the basket manufacturers, E. J. Marsh, general manager of the Niagara Packers, Grimsby, and a member of the executive of the Southern Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' Association, wired Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, on Saturday. On behalf of the Shippers' Association, he urged that in view of the seriousness of the market situation, that steps be taken immediately to enable basket manufacturers to keep working. The need is "very vital," he telegraphed.

(By Wellington Jeffers, Financial Editor, Globe & Mail, Feb. 18th)

Last week the makers of baskets, hampers and crates for fruit containers told the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that they would be obliged to close their factories next Saturday because they find it financially impossible without a subsidy of at least 25 per cent to keep costs down to the point where they can sell at or under the present ceiling. This week they are informed by Donald Gordon, chairman of the board, that they must continue to produce at a rate which will bring the same quantity at least that was produced in the 12 months ended Oct. 21, 1942. The question of subsidy, he says, is under study and in the meantime an "accountable subsidy"—that is, a subsidy on account—will be advanced to them by the Commodity Prices Stabilization Board. But no increase in price to the trade will be permitted.

As the companies in the industry are told to let Mr. Gordon know by Saturday what their further intentions are, it is plain, that a most vital test case is presented to the Canadian business world. The members of the industry, after negotiating since last October, take the view that their industry can no longer operate at a loss. They do not want to stop operating but with raw material and labor costs higher and in view of months of delay in Ottawa in arriving at a decision on price or subsidy, executives felt that some change in the price restrictions, or some allowance for greater costs, would have to come quickly to prevent financial disaster, and so they took the drastic decision noted.

Mr. Gordon also sees that the industry must continue for the sake of Canada's fruit growers and consumers and he orders it to continue. The industry asked for a 25 per cent increase. For instance, it has been selling at $48.25 per thousand six-quart fruit baskets, and representatives told Mr. Gordon they should have 25 per cent more, which in price, or price plus subsidy, would amount to a little more than $60. Mr. Gordon tells them to go on producing and he will let them have an additional $4.50 per thousand baskets to be accounted for, which is a little less than 10 per cent. Obviously, if the industry was correct in saying that it needed 25 per cent more, then 10 per cent will not save it. They have been producing containers for three months in the hope that there would be adjustments of their claims by means of subsidy or otherwise. In the making of baskets veneer logs are greatly desired but they are also greatly desired for other war purposes and the price is up and the supply short. For bottoms the industry has depended largely on Quebec. Almost any material can be used for bottoms, but prices, which last year were $11 per thousand, have gone up to $18 per thousand.

Members of the industry take it for granted that Mr. Gordon's order for them to advise the board by Saturday that they "agree to proceed with and continue production" is an "or else" order. They think he means that, if they do not continue, the Prices Board will take over the plants and run them. In such case it would probably ask the same staffs and managements to continue but it would have to assume all financial responsibility, and the executives of the companies are confident that in such case the Prices Board would have to dip into the tax moneys of the Dominion to an extent just as great at least as the subsidy asked by the companies. At least the boxes would be produced, even if the costs were not out, if the Government takes over because the Treasury is quite deep for price control project, but few can see how the taxpayer or the war or the producer or the consumer would be benefited by this adventure in socialism. In fact, they are convinced that the contrary would be the case and that the children of the price ceilings policy are now coming home to roost. When regimentation—especially of prices—comes in the door, democracy flies out the window and that it cannot be otherwise. Other industries will come up against the

Tank Destroyer That Beats Rommel's 15 MM. Gun

Many British anti-tank batteries in the Western Desert battlefields have changed their 2-pounder anti-tank guns for 6-pounders. This tank destroyer is superior to the German 15 mm. gun both in range and size of missile projected. Whereas the 15 mm. gun fires a 4½ lb. shell, the British 6-pounder fires a 6½ lb. shell. Pictures show a British tank destroyer battery in the thick of desert action, firing a 6-pounder anti-tank gun from ground position.

same crisis and drastic decision, they say.

This writer does not pretend to know from personal study whether the container industry should have the 25 per cent increase or not. He would expect the case to be strong for it or the application would not have been made at a time when all claims are subject to close study, or should be. Mr. Gordon says "No mutually satisfactory basis has yet been determined but the basis of a subsidy is under study." Yet negotiations began last October. It is the slowness in getting decisions under a regimented price economy which industry finds embarrassing, expensive and discouraging. The free market is taken away and the substitute Government body will take no or little responsibility as to costs or supply at prices which make ceilings possible and yet insists on the ceilings until the logic of events drives them to decisions when it is almost too late. "To late" will largely veto even a good decision.

This tempest makes one wonder if there is not wrapped up in it some danger to the whole great agricultural scheme of the Dominion Government for 1942. A food ministry is intended and the publicity is that the new ministry is going to go all out to supply men for farm labor and to induce farmers to grow their utmost. That is all, but it is plain also that growers, processors and distributors are all one problem in getting enough good food on the way to the consumer on this continent or in Britain. It is not enough to facilitate growth if processing, distribution and transportation are not also furthered. And even that is not enough. It might help us all to wonder for a while what the fruit industry would be without containers.

Possibly Mr. Gordon's energy will produce quick results. He has asked each basket company to keep records of costs of raw materials and wages, or production and of sales. That looks as if the study of whether or not a subsidy is needed is just beginning instead of four months ago when the application was made for increase. It is desirable information if a subsidy is intended and perhaps Mr. Gordon, having the matter brought to his attention, is quickly remedying something which should have been done long ago. In the meantime, however, he asks the industry to undergo considerable costs without knowing whether the eventual subsidy decision will be enough to reimburse most of the plants or not.

The fruit producer has in the past often thought container prices were too high and he has said so. But if he were faced with a situation where the choice lay between paying a higher price and having containers or having lower prices with no containers, I do not think he would hesitate long. The consumer is getting familiar with that situation in hearing that prices are kept low for essential foods and yet at the same time finding it hard to get supplies. The producer could easily be placed in that position with raw materials unless great wisdom is shown by the price controllers. Or unless the Food Ministry insists on the price or subsidy incentives needed to make sure of supplies.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Complete Utilization of Canada's Manpower and Womanpower is Essential to Victory

National Selective Service Civilian Regulations aim at complete utilization of manpower and womanpower. Workers and employers are urged to assist the war effort by carrying them out. All civilian regulations have been consolidated and revised, main features now being as follows—

COVERAGE

Employees: Regulations cover persons of either sex from 16 to 64 years old, except—provincial employees; armed services; and those in fishing, fish processing, hunting, trapping, clergymen; in 1942; school teachers; domestic servants; students working after school; employees in respect of part-time employment; and any one employed for 3 days or less in a calendar week. Agricultural workers are covered by special provisions, not by the general provisions as also are "technical personnel."

Employers: Any person, firm or other employer, with one or more "covered" employees.

EMPLOYERS MUST—

(a) Refrain from discussing employment with a prospective employee unless under permit; (b) notify the nearest employment office of additional employees needed; (c) secure permission from an employment office to advertise for workers; (d) notify the employment office of intention to discharge or lay off employees, or to retain employees when not required; (e) give 7 days' notice unless a Selective Service Officer permits a reduction, or unless in the building construction industry; (7 days' notice is not required unless an employee has already been employed for one month, or after fire, explosion or other calamity, or on termination of work by weather. Whether preceded by 7 days' notice or not, separation from employment requires written notice).

EMPLOYEES MUST—

(a) Register for work at the nearest employment office if out of work 7 days (full-time students, housewives and clergy are not included); (b) secure permit from a Selective Service Officer if going to look for work; (c) refrain from advertising for a job unless Selective Service Officer approves; (d) give 7 days' notice if wishing to quit a job, unless authorized by Selective Service Officer to give less notice.

(separation form, but not 7 days' notice required if in building construction or joining the forces).

AGRICULTURAL WORKERS

are covered by special provisions. Persons regarded as "workers in agriculture" may accept employment outside that industry to a maximum of 60 days within a calendar year without permit, but only outside urban municipalities of over 5,000 population; otherwise, agricultural workers must secure a Selective Service Permit.

TECHNICAL PERSONNEL

may only accept employment under special permit.

LABOUR EXIT PERMITS

are required to work outside Canada.

PENALTIES AND APPEALS

Penalties are provided for non-compliance with Regulations or orders issued thereunder. Appeals against directions may be made to a Court of Review.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE OFFICERS ARE AUTHORIZED TO—

(a) Give persons unemployed for 7 days, or on part-time for 14 days, direction to accept work; (b) exercise discretion in issuing permits to seek work; (c) authorize employed persons to transfer to more essential work, and subsequently to be re-instated in original employment; (d) reduce the 7 days' notice period consistent with Regulations.

THE MINISTER OF LABOUR IS AUTHORIZED TO—

(a) require a person in an age class subject to military call-up to accept employment; (b) require employers to release male person, failing to furnish evidence of not contravening military call-up; (c) authorize payment of transportation and special allowances in some cases; (d) authorize anyone to leave employment to take more essential work.

The foregoing is not an exact or complete reproduction of National Selective Service Civilian Regulations. For information or copies apply to nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.
